only, than any other calamity to which, in the ordinary course of events, it would be exposed.

4. In my Despatch No. 4, of the 9th of February last, on the affairs of Vancouver's Island, transmitting my correspondence with the House of Assembly up to that date, there is a message made to the House on the 5th of February, 1859, respecting the course I propose to adopt in the disposal and management of the land reserved for the benefit of the Indian population at this place, the plan proposed being briefly thus:—that the Indians should be established on that reserve, and the remaining unoccupied land should be let out on leases at an annual rent to the highest bidder, and that the whole proceeds arising from such leases should be applied to the exclusive benefit of the Indians.

5. The advantages of that arrangement are obvious. An amount of capital would thereby be created, equal perhaps to the sum required for effecting the settlement of the Indians; and any surplus funds remaining over that outlay, it is proposed to devote to the formation and support of schools, and of a clergyman to superintend their moral and religious training.

6. I feel much confidence in the operation of this simple and practical scheme, and provided we succeed in devising means of rendering the Indian as comfortable and independent in regard to his wants in his present proved condition, as he was when a wandering denizen of the forest, there can be little doubt of the ultimate success of the experiment.

7. The support of the Indians will thus, wherever land is valuable, be a matter of easy accomplishment, and in districts where the white population is small, and the land unproductive, the Indians may be left almost wholly to their own resources, and, as a joint means of earning their livelihood, to pursue unmolested their favorite calling of fishermen and hunters.

8. Anticipatory reserves of land for the benefit and support of the Indian races will be made for that purpose in all the districts of British Columbia inhabited by native tribes. Those reserves should in all cases include their cultivated fields and village sites, for which from habit and association they invariably conceive a strong attachment, and prize more, for that reason, than for the extent or value of the land.

9. In forming settlements of natives, I should propose, both from a principle of justice to the state and out of regard to the well-being of the Indians themselves, to make such settlements entirely self-supporting, trusting for the means of doing so, to the voluntary contributions in labor or money of the natives themselves; and secondly, to the proceeds of the sale or lease of a part of the land reserved, which might be so disposed of, and applied towards the liquidation of the preliminary expense of the settlement.

10. The plan followed by the government of the United States, in making Indian settlements, appears in many respects objectionable; they are supported at an enormous expense by congress, which for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1856, granted the sum of $35,000 dollars for the support and maintenance of the Indians of California alone, and for the four years ending with the 30th June, 1858, the total expenditure for that object came to the large sum of 1,104,000 dollars, and notwithstanding the heavy outlay, the Indians in those settlements are rapidly degenerating; neither would I recommend the system pursued by the founders of the Spanish missions in California.

Their objects, though to a certain extent mercenary, were mainly of a benevolent kind; the Indians were educated and trained in the Roman Catholic faith; they were well fed and clothed, and they were taught to labor; but being kept in a state of pupillage, and not allowed to acquire property of their own, nor taught to think and act for themselves, the feeling and pride of independence were effectually destroyed; and not having been trained to habits of self-government and self-reliance, they were found, when freed from control, altogether incapable of contributing to their own support, and really were more helpless and degraded than the untutored savages.

11. With such beacons to guide our steps, and profiting by the lessons of experience so acquired, we may perhaps succeed in escaping the manifest evils of both systems; the great expense and the debasing influences of the American system, by making the Indians independent and the settlements self-supporting; and to avoid the rock on which were wrecked the hopes of the Spanish missions, I think it would be advisable studiously to cultivate the pride of independence so ennobling in its effects, and which the savage largely possesses from nature and early training.

12. I would, for example, propose that every family should have a distinct portion of the reserved land assigned for their use, and to be cultivated by their own labor, giving them however, for the present, no power to sell or otherwise alienate the land; that they should be taught to regard that land as their inheritance; that the desire should be encouraged and fostered in their minds of adding to their possessions, and devoting their earnings to the purchase of property apart from the reserve, which would be left entirely at their own disposal and control; that they should in all respects be treated as rational beings, capable of acting and thinking for themselves; and lastly, that they should be placed under proper moral and religious training, and left, under the protection of the laws, to provide for their own maintenance and support.

13. Having touched thus briefly on the prominent features of the system, respecting which you requested my opinion, and trusting that my remarks may convey to you the information you desired, and may not be deemed irrelevant. I have, etc.,

(Signed) JAMES DOUGLAS, Governor.

COLLISION IN FOG

Holland Liner, Carrying Many Passengers, Is Raked by Schooner's Bowsprit

New York, June 15.—The side of the big Holland-American steamer Noorddam, with 550 passengers on board, was raked by the bowsprit of a schooner, believed to be the William J. Bryan, in a fog off Nantucket light last night. The Noorddam escaped with the loss of a lifeboat, but the fate of the schooner was unknown on board the liner.

The Noorddam arrived here today and reported the collision. Captain Stenger, of the steamer, said that the schooner was first sighted off the coast's north end when it was too late to avoid her. The vessel struck the big steamer a glancing blow, and after sweeping away one of the life-boats sheered off into the fog and disappeared. The Noorddam was stopped and signals blown, eliciting no response.

Captain Stenger did not believe that the Bryan was sunk. The schooner William J. Bryan is a little vessel of 14 tons and belongs in Somers Point, New Jersey.

QUEBEC FOREST FIRES

Blaze Started by Settler Sweeps Through Large Part of Bonaventure County

New Carlisle, Que., June 15.—Forest fires are raging in Bonaventure county in rear of the municipalities of Gascon, Port Daniel, Shingawake, Godfrey, Paspébiac, New Carlisle, Bonaventure, Capital and New Richmond. Hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of lumber has been destroyed. The fire was caused by a settler burning rubbish.

The fire swept the Mercer colonization reserve through its whole length of 40 miles. Many houses and barns owned by settlers have been destroyed, while settlers and their wives nearly lost their lives.

SWIMMING RACES ON A LARGE SCALE

Many Aquarian Features Will Mark the Athletic Contests at the A.Y.P.

Seattle, June 15.—Swimming races on a large scale will be completed for the first time in the history of the Northwest sports at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition in August. The Pacific Coast, the A.Y.P. meet is looked upon by the followers of the most important innovations ever brought into western athletics.

While no regular list of entries for the meet has been prepared, it is known that some of the best men of the country are desirous of entering.

A feature of the exposition water sports will be the exhibitions by a number of Hawaiian native swimmers who are at the exposition. These men have practically been brought up in the water, and it will be a matter of much interest to see them compete with the best swimmers of America.

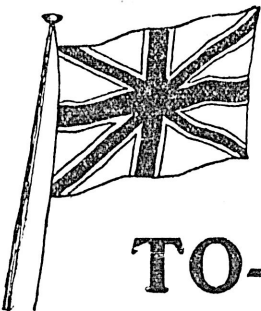

An admirable place for the water sports has been prepared in Union Bay of Lake Washington, which borders on the exposition grounds. The water is sufficiently shallow to be warmed nicely by the sun but it is still deep enough for diving contests. Along the shore have been built large bleachers which can accommodate a large crowd of spectators. Facilities for the training of the contestants are close at hand at the stadium of the exposition.

COW TESTING

Members Astonished at Results of Tests—Seven-Year-Old Cow Gave Best Results

Ottawa, June 15.—Cow testing association members are astonished, to put it mildly, at the revelations of the scales and test. In one herd of seventeen cows the average yield was 4,380 pounds milk, 4.2 test, and 183 pounds fat. The highest yield of milk and fat was from a seven-year-old cow, whose test was only an average of 3.8 for the full period of lactation.

SEEKING IDEAS IN PROVINCE

C. F. Garfield of Rochester, N. Y., Has Big Development Plan Afoot

In a trip of inspection of the advantages afforded for investment in the Northwest and British Columbia, Charles Fowler Garfield, of Rochester, N. Y., arrived here yesterday, and is spending a day or two at the Empress hotel.

Mr. Garfield is known in the western section of New York state as a banker and large operator in real estate. He speaks loudly in praise of all he has seen in his present trip, which, so far, has extended from Toronto to Prince Rupert. He seems at most valuable in his appreciation of the beauties and attractions of Victoria. He comes with introductions to Premier McBride; but in the absence of Mr. McBride at North Vancouver, bore a personal introduction from Mr. Carter-Cotton to Land Commissioner Fulton, whom Mr. Garfield met at the parliament buildings yesterday afternoon.

The ideas and projects which seem to be advocated by Mr. Garfield are not those which at present are of vital interest to a country specially peopled like this. He comes seeking ideas which he will use in a big development plan he is working out in his own city. As a result of a close study of the needs for better housing conditions for wage-earners, Mr. Garfield is evolving a method which embodies the building of four hundred houses which will at the same time include modern conveniences and comforts, and yet be purchasable by wage-earners at a price commensurate with their means and earnings.

It appears that, as may be naturally supposed, the housing proposition in such a settled and crowded section as the Rochester district of the Empire state, is a problem which not alone concerns the material welfare of the people, but is emphatically a deterrent or helpful, as the case may be, to the moral standing of the citizens.

This subject was first agitated by Mr. Garfield when he was serving as president of the Rochester Chamber of Commerce last year. He developed the usefulness of that organization as a factor for advertising and commercializing the city until it became almost a model for similar bodies in other cities. Now he is advocating the more intensified development of the land by those tilling it. He says that in some sections, for, say, ten miles outside of Rochester, land has attained to a value of two and three thousand dollars an acre, and through the more scientific and more intensified development of it.

This subject is given special attention by Cornell University, the state agricultural college, of which lays particular stress upon the greater development of the state's agricultural interests.

There is a lack of this phase of development in the real estate projects in cities in this country, according to Mr. Garfield, who is claimed to be the largest real estate man between New

ONE ON THE DOCTORS

Madame J. Roux, St. Moise, Que., says: "Fruit-a-lives cured me of severe Liver Disease. Neither doctors nor any other remedy did me any good, but Fruit-a-lives promptly cured."

"Fruit-a-lives" always cure Liver Trouble, Biliousness and Constipation because they act directly on the liver. They stimulate the secretion of Bile, which decreases the quantity of blood in the liver and thus relieves the congestion or Biliousness. With plenty of Bile to move the Bowels, there is an end to the Constipation.

"Fruit-a-lives" are a positive cure for all troubles arising from a disordered liver.

"Fruit-a-lives" are the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes—prepared by a newly discovered process, and combined with valuable tonics and antiseptics. They are, without doubt, the most popular remedy in Canada today.

York and Chicago. He claims that the buying and selling of lots and lands, are not in themselves beneficial to a city or a section; but only tend to inflate prices, which will not bring good results in the time to come.

"That kind of thing is alright so long as it lasts," he says, "but you ought to remember that the only means to increase the value of property rightly, and with proper lasting effects, is to improve, to work, to develop that land, or lot."

Mr. Garfield is a member of the Garfield family, which can claim the former president of the United States as a member. In this connection, he is related to the secretary of the Interior, the Hon. James Rudolph Garfield, who recently retired with the retirement of President Roosevelt. That former president's private secretary, Mr. Loeb, replaced another relative of Mr. Garfield's, in the receivership of the port of New York, which is considered the most lucrative and influential political position in New York state. It was formerly held by President Roosevelt. Another relative is Dr. Harry Garfield, the president of Williams College in New England, and a brother of Hon. James R. Garfield. Another well known member of the family is the Hon. Charles W. Garfield, a banker of Grand Rapids and chairman of the Michigan State Forestry commission. It is understood that Mr. Garfield expects to leave for the exposition this afternoon.

NEW SCHOOL SITE IS NEEDED

Board Recognizes Necessity of Increased Accommodation in Eastern Part of City

The necessity of securing additional school sites to provide for the future increase of school population was recognized by the board of school trustees when at last night's special meeting of the board it was decided to purchase a site in the eastern portion of the city. At a recent meeting of the board the building and grounds committee was appointed to locate a suitable site, and on the recommendation of that committee property will be secured on Leighton street, near Bank street. As the board has no funds available for any purpose other than school maintenance, the city council will be requested to provide $1500 for the purchase of a site, the board promising to make up the amount out of the appropriation already given it this year for maintenance purposes. The full cost of the site is $3400.

Trustee McIntosh urged that a site also be secured in the north eastern portion of the city in the neighborhood of Oaklands, where the school population is rapidly increasing, and where the provision of school accommodation will soon be required.

The question of school repairs was discussed at length. It was decided to spend $2220 for necessary repairs to be done during the coming vacation, and the secretary will be instructed to call for tenders for the same.

The plans of the new Moss street school were considered and adopted, and the architect, J. C. M. Keith, instructed to call for tenders for separate trades. Tenders will also be called for the heating and ventilating plant to be installed in the new school.

A confidential report by Superintendent Paul on the several teachers of the city staff was considered at length, and referred back to that official for action.

LAPORTE MURDER FARM

Man Imprisoned for Conspiracy With Arch Murderess Believed to Be Dying

Laporte, Ind., June 15.—In response to a letter from her brother, Ray Lamphere, Mrs. James Finley yesterday hurried to the Michigan city prison to see the prisoner, notorious through his association with Mrs. Guinness, the arch murderess, for the burning of whose home Lamphere was sent to jail.

Lamphere in his letters stated that he recently suffered four hemorrhages and believed death was imminent. This belief was confirmed in the mind of Mrs. Finley by the refusal of the prison authorities to allow her to see her brother in the hospital ward. Despite her pleadings, the deputy warden was obdurate, replying "Lamphere is extremely low and cannot see anyone."

It is expected that this refusal, coupled with the representations made by London, Paris and Berlin, will result in arrangements being made in Europe for American participation in the loan.

THE INDIAN TITLE

So much has recently been said about the Indian title to land in this province, and so many representations have been made about its having been secured to them by treaty, that the following extract from a letter from Sir James Douglas to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, dated February 9th, 1859, may be of interest. It had special reference to the Songhees Reserve:

Attempts having been made by persons residing in this place (Victoria) to secure these lands for their own advantage by direct purchase from the Indians, and it being desirable and necessary to put a stop to such proceedings, I instructed the Crown Solicitor to insert a public notice in the Victoria Gazette to the effect that the land in question was the property of the Crown, and for all reason the Indians themselves were incapable of conveying a legal title to the same, and that any person holding such land would be summarily ejected.

In the same letter, Sir James referred to a communication which he had sent to the House of Assembly, informing that body of the course he intended to follow in respect to the Songhees Reserve, and in a subsequent letter, dated March 14th, 1859, he tells what the course was. We quote:

In my despatch No. 4, of the 9th of February last, on the affairs of Vancouver's Island, transmitting my correspondence with the House of Assembly up to that date, there is a message made to the House on the 5th of February, 1859, respecting the course I propose to adopt in the disposal and management of the land reserved for the benefit of the Indian population at this place, the plan proposed being briefly thus—that the Indians should be established on that reserve, and the remaining unoccupied land should be let out on leases at an annual rent to the highest bidder, that the whole proceeds arising from such leases should be applied to the exclusive benefit of the Indians.

From these letters we gather three points, namely:

That in 1859 the Indian reservations were Crown lands.

That they were reserved for the benefit of the Indians, not theirs by any treaty.

That the Governor exercised full control over the lands in the name of the Crown;

That he proposed to lease for the benefit of the Indians such parts of the reserve as they did not require for their own use.

The letters from which the above extracts are taken will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Will someone, who claims that the Indians have treaty rights in the Reserve, which they can hold against the world, kindly tell us at what date this treaty was made, between whom and what the terms of the treaty were? Mr. Barnard said that the settlement of the Songhees Reserve was no further advanced than it was a year or two ago. It is not as far advanced as it was in 1859, for since that time the Indians have been alleged to possess rights, which at that time they did not claim, and which the Governor Douglas, who certainly was recognized as their best friend, would not for one moment have acknowledged.

AN EXPERIMENTAL FARM.

There will naturally be considerable difference of opinion among the people of Vancouver Island as to the best location for the proposed experimental farm station. As Mr. Ralph Smith contemplates the respective claimants, Nanaimo, Cowichan, and Saanich, he may be excused if he murmurs to himself:

"How happy could I be with either, Were I other dear charmer away."

There are many things to be said in favor of the localities mentioned. Nanaimo is, as things are likely to be in the immediate future, more nearly in the centre of the island than the other localities; but Cowichan is nearer the centre as things now are; while in view of the fact that all roads lead to Victoria, and the islands of the gulf are a factor in the case which cannot be overlooked, a site in Saanich not far from this city would seem to be about the correct thing. When Mr. Templeman was asked about the matter by the board of trade, he said that Professor Saunders thought land was held too high in Saanich; but we do not think there is much in that point, for the difference in first cost would probably not be very great in any event. The Colonist is so very desirous to see all parts of the island prosper that it will not be greatly exercised over the choice that may be made on the ground of locality. It would greatly prefer a location on the Saanich peninsula for several reasons, one of which is that an experimental farm there would be more convenient to a larger number of people than one located elsewhere on the island. In point of suitability of soil and the like there is perhaps no great difference between any of the localities likely to be selected. The Comox and Alberni districts are well suited by nature for experimental or any other kind of farms, but we suppose they are out of the question at present.

IMPERIAL PREFERENCE.

Windsore, the London correspondent of the Montreal Star, sent a telegram to his paper, from which we make the following extract:

Mr. J. S. Brierley, of Montreal, as chairman of the Canadian delegation following Mr. Balfour at the Imperial Press Conference, today, emphasized what he said seems to Canadian delegates the most remarkable feature of the speeches of every British statesman, whether Unionist or Liberal. One not ran through all British statesmanship. They were unanimous in asserting that Canada and the other overseas Dominions must be left in full control of their own affairs.

Mr. Brierley might have added that in respect to tariffs as well as the army and navy this fundamental principle of closer association of the states of the empire is now finding general acceptance here.

Mr. Chamberlain's first idea of hard and fast bargaining, item by item, is fast disappearing. If, as it will come by mutuality of tariffs, each embodying the principle of preference.

As a leading Unionist statesman said to some Canadian delegates yesterday, "We mean to have our tariffs here for our own revenue and empire needs. You won't then petition us from Canada not to grant you a preference. We shall not ask you for favors. We shall enact a preference which we think best for the empire."

The British insistence on complete Colonial freedom of action as the only possible basis of co-operation, is the surprise of the conference to the overseas delegation. The old British idea of centralized imperialism is evidently quite dead.

We quote these extracts will considerable satisfaction, because they bear out so fully the ideas which the Colonist has consistently given its support, even at a time when to do so was to lay ourselves open to charges of being anti-British. They are in line with the expressions of Mr. Balfour, upon which we commented yesterday. Some day everyone will see the absurdity of the proposal that we should seek to consolidate an empire by scrapping over the details of a half-dozen customs tariffs. Perfect freedom between the constituent parts of his Majesty's dominions, and the adjustment of their fiscal arrangements from time to time as experience shall show to be necessary or advisable, bearing in mind all the while that it is to our mutual advantage to trade as much and as freely as possible with each other, is a principle that has common sense to recommend it, and is fully in keeping with the relations that have hitherto existed between the several parts of the Empire. We have pointed out over and over again that the first step towards a complete imperial preference is for the people of the United Kingdom to determine what fiscal policy is best suited to their own needs. British trade with the Colonies is not of such magnitude that the welfare of the British people ought to be jeopardized in order to encourage it, and the United Kingdom may be trusted to adopt a policy that will be suitable to the needs of its people, or at least what the people think is suited to their needs. Each of the self-governing Dominions may be trusted to do the same thing. To attempt to force the people of the Mother Country to adopt any fiscal legislation, simply because it may prove of advantage to the outlying portion of the empire, would be to put a strain upon the imperial tie which would be only less than that which would result from an attempt to force the people of the self-governing colonies to adopt a fiscal policy for the reason principally that it would be beneficial to the people of the United Kingdom. We are now speaking of a general fiscal policy. After each state has determined upon what seems best in its own interests, it will be time enough to seek to adjust tariffs so as to give each other the greatest possible advantage as against foreigners. That is the true basis of imperial preference. To seek any other basis would be to become involved in inextricable confusion. The Conservative leaders in the United Kingdom are beginning to realize this very fully. When the time comes for an appeal to the people, they will present a platform of tariff reform, but the chief argument in support of it will be that it will advance the prosperity of the Mother Country. Incidentally it will be used as an appeal to the patriotism of the people as citizens of a world-wide Empire, because if will if adopted enable the Mother Country to foster inter-imperial trade; but the basal idea will be to meet domestic needs. Its adjustment to the development of inter-imperial trade will be a matter for negotiation, and will have its basis in reciprocity. This is the only safe ground.

GRANARY OF THE WORLD.

Senator McCumber, who represents North Dakota in the United States Congress, has been studying geography, and as in duty bound, he imparted some of his acquired knowledge to his fellow senators. With the aid of a large map he proceeded to enlighten them about the west. On the map he drew a line across the United States from north to south and just east of Dakota. Then he told his hearers that west of that line lie two-thirds of the area of the United States. Then he prolonged the line into Canada and added that west of the line in the Dominion are more acres, that can produce cereals of all kinds, than can be possibly found in the United States west of the line. He said that "the Canadian tract thus indicated is about 1,200 miles by 1800 miles, interspersed with lakes, rivers and small bodies of timber, and nearly every acre of which, outside of the small mountainous portion, is capable of producing all kinds of cereals, except corn, and in some parts corn can be raised."

The rainfall of the Canadian area is better, he said, than that of the Western states and he is convinced that within 20 years the Canadian prairies will be "the granary of the world." The line drawn by the Senator passes through Winnipeg. Do the people of British Columbia, or, to come more closely home, do the people of Victoria appreciate what the tremendous fact mentioned by Senator McCumber signifies to them? Do they realize what a bearing it has upon their future? Twenty years is not a long time by any means. Let us try to realize how short it is. It will soon be 14 years since the Liberal government came into power. It is about 20 years since the British Pacific enterprise was launched, and a large part of 20 years since the construction of the Parliament Buildings across James Bay was authorized. Twenty years pass away very quickly. Four full parliamentary terms cover them. Yet within so short a period we are told on the authority of a foreign observer, who speaks after a full examination of the wheat-producing area of Canada, the central part of the Dominion will have become the granary of the world. Sometimes we feel as if readers must grow tired of our constant insistence upon the adoption of a transportation policy that will furnish an avenue of commerce "from the plains of Alberta to the harbors of Vancouver Island," but when we contemplate the enormous possibilities of development both east and west of the mountains, and in the fertile valleys lying within them, we feel a new incentive to urge upon the people of this city the need of prompt and vigorous action.

If the people of Victoria began today and worked with all the energy they possess to secure the building of a railway which would reach the wheat fields from this city by way of Bute Inlet or some other route in that vicinity, and were to meet with the fullest measure of success, five years would, perhaps, elapse before the first trains could be run over it, that is a quarter of the time stated by the Senator from Idaho as that which will intervene before the wheat fields become the granary of the world. Let us endeavor as progressive citizens of a growing city, a city situated on an island, which, in addition to a selection of fine harbors from which the grain products of the interior can be shipped to the markets of the world, possesses vast resources in natural products which the wheat growing area will require, set ourselves to work in earnest now upon this great matter. There are some people who tell us that we must be content to rest the future of Victoria upon the development of Vancouver Island; but against this we most vigorously protest. Unless we can bring a transcontinental railway upon the island, making its line to our seaports an integral part of its system and not a mere adjunct, we will see the natural wealth, from the utilization of which so much is expected, drawn off in its unmanufactured form to swell the industrial prosperity of towns on the Mainland. The longer we delay, the greater will be the handicap we will have to overcome.

The granary of the world can be made tributary to the development of Vancouver Island in the best sense and to the progress of Victoria along the broadest lines. But work must be done before this can be realized. There must be self-sacrifice on the part of individuals, who are willing to work hard in the public interest without any hope of other reward than that which will come to them from the general prosperity of the community.

It has been suggested to the Colonist that a very nice poster to the agreement between the city and the Tramway company would be a five cent fare or a green ticket for a ride to Esquimalt. Let the company give us a cultus potlatch for a change.

The annual meeting of the Conservative Association will be held in the Institute Hall this evening. It is unnecessary to ask that there shall be a full attendance, because the spirit of activity in Conservative circles will ensure this.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound Railway, an extension of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, has begun its regular service to the Pacific coast. A few years ago the coming of a new transcontinental railway to the Pacific Northwest would have been a signal for unbounded enthusiasm. How it is taken as a matter of course.

An unofficial statement is made that the British government will despatch two first-class battleships and two or more cruisers to the Pacific coast this autumn to participate in the celebration which San Francisco is getting up to celebrate her recovery from the earthquake. Their presence would be very welcome, and doubtless they would pay us a visit before going home.

After the people have got used to it, the closing of all stores on Sunday will not be found to be a serious inconvenience in Victoria. It will be an advantage to the people of the stores, for it will enable them to take a needed day or rest. Of course there is some convenience in being able to buy cigars, tobacco, fruits, soft drinks, and ice cream on Sundays, but it is surprising how easily it is to get along without being able to do so.

Visited Exposition

H. P. McDowell returned yesterday from a visit to the Rose Carnival in Portland, and the A.-Y.-P. exposition in Seattle he pronounces both affairs as being very successful. During his trip he met several former Victorians. James Townsend, formerly of Victoria, is one of the officials of the exposition having been appointed official decorator, although he had 21 competitors for the position his artistic ability easily won him the coveted position. Charles McNiffe, also formerly of Victoria, holds the strenuous position of superintendent of traffic an extremely responsible position. Both of these gentlemen were connected for years with the old Savoy theatre in this city and Vancouver. G. J. Shepherd formerly of the fire department is engaged as inspector over the sub-treasurers on the pay streak—the amusement center of the fair. Each of these gentlemen will be pleased to meet the visitors from Victoria, and extend all the courtesies in their power.

Time He Was Dead

Some time ago an office boy answering the telephone for the first time in his life, not knowing how to use it, was told that, when the bell rang, he was to answer it.

When, therefore, he heard it ring, he picked up the receiver, and shouted: "Hello! Who's there?"

The answer came back:

"I'm one hundred and alive."

"Go on," said the boy. "It's time you were dead."

CO-OPERATION OF POLICE BUREAUS

International Convention of Chiefs Is Clearing House for Ideas

The international association of chiefs of police is arranging to hold its sixteenth annual convention in Buffalo today. Chief Langley of this city will be one of the delegates to the convention. It had been intended to hold the convention in Los Angeles, but owing to the recent police scandal there the change to Buffalo was made. The association meets as a sort of clearing house for ideas in the prevention of crime and aims to get a fresh hold on the police of the world, men and women who live by their wits, settling their faces against the law. In the modern days of quick transportation that police department must fall which does not co-operate with its neighbors, for the criminal may be a thousand miles away from the scene of his crime within twenty-four hours. It was to bring about that co-operation, and to transform the police forces of the world into one great organization, each part aiding the other in its work, each part looking for the lawbreakers of all, that the International Association of police chiefs was formed.

Along with it was formed the international bureau of identification, now located in Washington. This bureau has the records of nearly 50,000 criminals. Of course some of them have died, and others have reformed, but it is still comprehensive enough to embrace about every notorious individual in the United States and Canada, and most of the great international criminals as well. So far as the past is concerned its records are very full. But it is not the old offenders that give the police departments the most trouble. They are aware that the photographs of these, their bertillon measurements, and their finger prints, perhaps, are accessible to the police everywhere. But not so with the new crop of criminals, which amounts to hundreds every year. It is in an effort to acquaint the police of North America with them that most of the energy of the bureau is exercised.

Every now and then Major Richard Sylvester, superintendent of the Washington police force, and president of the international association, whose works at inauguration time always commands commendation, issues a little book that the public at large never sees. It goes to police headquarters in the various cities of the country, and contains the pictures and descriptions of about two hundred recruits to the ranks of notorious and dangerous criminals. This album is carefully studied wherever it goes, as in it are the names of those whom it will be profitable for the whole police world to watch during many coming years.

There is no other point in human existence where the battle of wit is so sharp as where meet the criminal and the guardians of the law. For every repulsive measure that society is able to adopt, the forger, the bank robber, and the porch climber, has a Roland for its Oliver. When effectively shut off in one direction they have been able to break through the precautions against them in another, so that today it is as much of a cat-and-tuck race between the thief and those who would suppress him as ever it was.

Cost of Crime
It has been estimated by a criminal expert who had his statistics printed by congressional authority, that crime costs the people of the United States $600,000,000 a year. The way he arrives at this conclusion is interesting. He starts out by estimating that the country spends $150,000,000 a year in the prevention and punishment of crime. The state and national governments spend $50,000,000 more. He reckons that there are 100,000 criminals in the United States, and that their stealings when at liberty, and loss of time when in prison, have an aggregate value of $400,000,000. He places about one-half of all the criminals on the list of habits.

His estimate of the number of criminals is probably under the mark. According to census returns there are approximately 80,000 prisoners in the penal institutions of the country, and that takes no account of those in the reformatories and other corrective institutions. The number of crimes which go unpunished is almost as great as the number for which justice is meted out, so that if the per capita figures of the expert be correct, the whole cost of crime in the United States is considerably above the figure given above. Add to this the proportionate cost in Canada and Mexico, and the total for North America would not be far from a billion dollars a year.

Bertillon System.
There are now about one hundred cities of the United States and Canada which use the Bertillon method of criminal identification. This constitutes photographs in three positions, measurements of a number of unchanging characteristics of the body, notation of all scars, deformities and other peculiarities. There are 70 public organizations belonging to the International Association of Police Chiefs, and they all send these identifications to the identification bureau at Washington. More than 4,000 photographs are received there each year and over 400 identifications of criminals result from its activities.

The Bertillon method is the child of the brain of a French ethnologist now attached to the Paris police. It is the most widely used of all methods of identification. But its value extends only from the 20th year upward. To remedy this defect, and to make assurance more certain in identification work, the finger print method has been growing in favor. Dip the finger or thumb in ordinary printer's ink and then press it on white paper, and you have an impression that cannot be duplicated in all the world. It is an impression that would be made any time from the cradle to the grave. Some take the thumb only. Others take the thumb and the four fingers of the left hand, because it is the least used and least liable to injury. Some have the flat impression, simply pressing the thumb flat on the paper, and others use the rolled impression, rolling the thumb around on the paper until it is vertical on the other side.

The army, the navy and the marine corps have all adopted the finger print method of identification. When it comes to identification by one of these prints the print of the suspect is compared with that on file. Under a microscope it is easy to count every line, and to note its direction and character with infinite precision. But modern ingenuity cannot lay claim to credit for evolving this exact method of identification. Like such a surprising lot of other things which men now regard as wonderfully ingenious finger print identification comes to us from the Chinese from a period far behind the birth of Christ. Chinamen used it as their signature to important papers, such as wills and deeds.

Need of Detectives.
Commissioner Bingham of the New York police department, recently declared that Gotham has not a single first class detective in its whole service, and goes even further in saying that the city would not recognize an officer of such a description if he were to march down Broadway heralded by a brass band. He thinks that there ought to be two or three civilian detectives, and that only the Mayor, the police commissioner and one or two others should be aware of their identity. He believes that 80 per cent of all the crime committed in the city of New York is committed by foreigners.

The introduction of police dogs in New York has been a matter of interest by police authorities everywhere, and the remarkable success that attended this experiment has led other cities to consider adding dogs to their force. They have been used mainly in the suburban sections and outside the city, since their introduction burglaries have almost entirely ceased. The prospect of being chased by an unrelenting police dog has been too much for the light-fingered gentry; they all admit that one dog has more terrors for them than a dozen policemen. Airedale terriers and German sheep dogs make the best police canines. First taught to be obedient, to jump over obstructions, and to carry missiles and weightier articles, the dogs are then taught to run errands, and in fact to do everything that a dog can do. After six months of primary teaching they are ready for the grammar grades, so to speak, where they are taught to follow a trail, by dragging a piece of meat over the ground. Then they learn to keep the trail, and to keep their noses to the ground. After six months of primary teaching they are ready for the grammar grades, so to speak, where they are taught to follow a trail, by dragging a piece of meat over the ground. The License of White Horse Saloon Is Suspended for a Month

Regretting that the board did not have the authority to impose the lash upon men who entice young girls into saloons, Mayor Hall, chairman of the board of license commissioners, yesterday afternoon commented strongly upon what he termed the direct and open violation of the license regulations shown by the proprietors, Hans Kelson and Neil Hansen, of the White Horse saloon, Humboldt street.

Kelson and Hansen appeared before the board to answer to a complaint made by License Inspector Handley that at 12:30 a. m. on May 27 two young women, daughters of respectable parents, together with a male companion, were discovered in a rear room of the saloon. Two charges were laid by Inspector Handley against the proprietors of the saloon, the first charging the license holders with selling liquor during prohibited hours, the second for allowing females to frequent the premises during prohibited hours. The evidence of Inspector Handley showed that on the morning of May 27, in company with Constable Duncan, he visited the premises. A light was shining in the back room, and the sound of female voices could be heard on the street. Leaving Constable Duncan at the front door, Inspector Handley went around to the rear, knocked at the door several times and finally succeeded in gaining entrance. He discovered in a rear room two girls, and their male companion. Glasses in which, it is alleged, liquor had been served were in plain evidence.

On the first charge, that of selling liquor during prohibitive hours, the evidence was not conclusive. On the second charge, that of allowing women on the premises, the proprietors pleaded guilty. No evidence other than that of the license inspector was taken. The commissioners, Mayor Hall, Alderman McKewen and Leonard Tait, after considering the evidence in camera came to the decision that on the charge of selling liquor to females during prohibited hours the license inspector had proved his case, as a result the license of the White Horse saloon will be suspended for thirty days from date. The evidence of the actual sale of liquor was not considered sufficient to warrant action. In rendering the decision of the board Mayor Hall made the statement that hereafter any breach of the license regulations would be strictly enforced, that many complaints had been made to the board of breaches of the regulations, and that in the present instance he was only sorry that the commissioners did not possess the authority to discipline the male member of the trio. He would be only too glad if the board possessed the right to order the lash for men who entice young girls into saloons. In the mayor's opinion, and his worship's sentiments were concurred in by Alderman McKewen and Mr. Tait, he could see no reason why the holder of a license could not conduct his business in a legitimate and lawful manner. Mayor Hall took occasion to again impress upon all license holders the necessity of strictly complying with the regulations, stating that hereafter the least breach of the law would be severely punished.

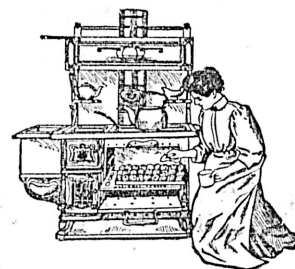

Copper Ore Specimens

Some fine specimens of Vancouver island copper ore were received yesterday at the offices of the Development League. A number of these, assaying about 15 per cent copper, came from the Keltish Company's properties near Cowichan station, while the remainder came from the Southern Crown mine at Uchuesit. These specimens will be used for advertising the mining resources of those parts of the island from which they came.

Here and There

The importance of the visit of the delegates to the women's congress to the Pacific coast should not be underestimated. Most of these ladies are engaged on philanthropic work. They know conditions in their own countries and have studied the tendencies which have brought about the poverty and misery that prevail in too many of them. They have formed plans for the reformation of existing evils and the uplifting of the poor. On the other hand, some of them come from cities and countries noted for the excellence of their institutions and the great progress of the people. There are among them the thoughtful domestic German women, the capable and intelligent patriotic women of Norway, Sweden, and Denmark, as well as ladies from all parts of the United Kingdom who know the needs of their sisters of all classes. We cannot hope in the brief visit which the delegates will make to this province to hear from their own lips much of which they have accomplished or of what they hope to do to make the world a happier and a better place to live in.

But there is no doubt that each of these women will study as closely as possible the conditions of our province. Almost all come from countries where the people are seeking new fields for their ambitions and their energies. The impression which they form of the opportunities to be found in the different provinces of Canada will be related to their friends on their return. Newspapers will interview them, and some of the ladies will write articles for magazines. In one way or other all that they have observed will reach the people of the country to which they return.

So important do the governments of Norway and Sweden consider the visit of these delegates that they have paid their expenses to Canada.

There can be no doubt that the English women will try to learn what demand there is here for those thousands of unemployed who are forming the greatest problem of the Mother Land. There are, it may be supposed, some of the delegates who have come to Canada for no other purpose than to forward the cause they have espoused, and a few, perhaps, who are in search of excitement and novelty. But these are the exceptions. Most are earnest, sober, broad minded women who are ready to learn and eager to gain information.

It will be a privilege to meet and listen to these women at the luncheon, where, it is hoped, some of the more distinguished of them will speak. But after all, it is as important that our citizens should think well of us and of our city as that we should admire them and profit by what they say to us. Everyone knows that women are quick to receive impressions. It would be very unfortunate if our visitors felt that in any way the women of Victoria were less friendly or less hospitable than those of other cities. In the matter of entertainment, the committee of the women's council may be trusted to do all that is necessary in the very best way. But every woman knows that unless every guest is at her ease and interested the most perfect appointments and the most delicious refreshments do not make any function a success.

The delegates, it should be remembered, are in a very special sense the guests of the women's council, and every member should look upon herself as a hostess bound to do all that she has an opportunity of doing to make their stay happy. It has been said that in the past some receptions given in Victoria to distinguished strangers were failures because of the formality with which they were conducted. It is for the women to show on this occasion that they are mistresses in the arts of hospitality.

The grand jury of Toronto a few days ago presented a report on the crowded state of some quarters of the city and the unfitness for habitation of many of the houses. It is not long since it would have been thought an interference with private rights for even a grand jury to go into the dwellings of the poorest and observe and report upon the conditions in which they live. But in these days it has come to be recognized that no one, no matter how rich in power or powerful, has a right to profit by the necessities of others. Nor may men and women by their mode of life endanger the health of the community or bring up children to be a menace to the state.

So the landlords who are becoming rich by allowing many families to live where there is only room for one and the tenants, who in order to save money are bringing up their families in crowded hovels will find their gains interfered with. The growth of the slums in Canada has a lesson for our western cities. Unless Vancouver and Victoria want in future to solve the same problem as Toronto is trying to deal with now and which, as is said, even the new city of Winnipeg must soon face, regulations should be adopted and enforced to keep old buildings in repair or to tear them down when they are unfit for occupation.

Much more than this is necessary to prevent the growth of poverty, but something is done when men, women and children are not allowed to crowd together in places unfit for the habitation of the lower animals. Perhaps there is not a city in the world where there is as little overcrowding, at least among the white population, as in little white slums in Victoria. To keep it in that happy condition should be the aim of all who are in authority.

Everyone knows the proverb which says that "Faraway fields look green." Men and women are attracted by opportunities in distant countries which they overlook at home. The search for the end of the rainbow has, however, resulted in great good to humanity. Many a man has found himself possessed of qualities the existence of which he had no idea, till he was thrown upon his own resources. The longing and the unrest that keep the great stream of humanity moving, play a great part in its purification. We should not be anxious to keep the young people with us when they feel that new spheres for their activity. There is many a self-denying worker in the mission field who would have led a selfish narrow life at home and many a fortune has been made by the young man in a distant city whose in his own town would have been a failure. So let us seek the green fields and if when found they have spots that are brown and bare, we will be the stronger for the search and better able to overcome the difficulties in their cultivation.

But if it is true that distance lends enchantment to the view it is quite as true that custom blinds us to the evils that are near at hand. We listen to the stories told of neglected children in London and admire the self denial and the devotion of those who spend their lives in their rescue. Some of us may be moved to assist in the work, but about the children in our city who need care and help in order to grow up useful citizens most of us concern ourselves very little. On several occasions the Children's Aid society has met without enough members to carry on its business.

If there are no children to be helped, if little boys and girls are not allowed to spend their evenings on the streets, and if all the children in Victoria attend school regularly, if there are no fathers and mothers who neglect their children then there is no need for such a society.

But if there are children growing up in our midst who are in danger themselves and who are corrupting those around them, no matter how small their number may be, if there are influences at work which tend to ruin the children and if the homes, the churches and schools cannot meet their needs, then the Children's Aid society has the duty of supporting every good woman in Victoria.

The Canadian Women's Press club of Toronto are doing their part in entertaining the delegates to the congress of women. Mrs. Clare Fitzgibbon, the honorary president of the club, has received an invitation to an At Home to be held at St. Margaret's college, Toronto, to meet the authors and journalists attending the congress of women on June 18. The Press club has prepared a "Who's Who" giving a short description of each of the delegates which will be most useful to those attending the congress. In this connection it is right to say that it was pointed out to the writer that an injustice had been done to the Toronto hostesses in stating that it was difficult to find private entertainment for the delegates. In eastern cities the holiday season has begun and large numbers of families are absent from the city and their houses are either rented or closed for the season. This is a condition of things which does not exist in our own cooler summer climate. Every effort is being made by Toronto women to make the stay of the delegates in their city as pleasant as possible.

No matter how annoying it may have been to be turned away from the theatre doors on Monday night, the public of Victoria will commend the action of Chief Davis in refusing to allow the fire regulations to be broken. It gives a great feeling of confidence to know that the lives and the property of the people of Victoria, are so far as fire is concerned in the keeping of a man who realizes his responsibility and will do his duty without fear or favor.

Friends in the House.

They have never a word to say,
Each one turns a quiet back
And sits, a little monk in gray
Or sober brown, or honest black.

Behind the guests of my desire
I make fast the outer door,
And lo! before the crumbling fire
These await one mute word more.

And when at dawn, from out my ease
In springs some half-forzetta care
At my bed's head, thinking peace,
Two and three, the monks are there.

In the noon when traffic swims
Like a gulf about my brain,
One that has gone out with me
Divides with me the press and pain.

And he comes in with me at night
And says no word and makes no sound;
But sits within the candle light
And calls the gentle brothers round.

And from the crows, fallen low with time
I have all kind and human looks,
And life once more sings out in rhyme,
The happy brothers are my books.

JEFFRIES APPEARS FAT
BUT VERY SPEEDY

Pittsburg, June 15.—J. J. Jeffries received a great ovation at Duquesne garden here tonight, where he engaged in a six-round boxing exhibition with his sparring partner, Sam Berger. Jeffries appeared to have lost a great deal of weight but was still heavy. He was extremely fast and very quick with his hands.

BREAKS DOWN

Programme Witnessed by Few
Although Races Are Better Than Average

J. J. McCullough's bay colt Altamor, the three year old son of Altamor, who last Thursday exhibited Victoria race goers his beating ocean Queen, Fredonia and others over the seven furlong course in record time, was installed an even money favorite in the feature event of yesterday's card. Altamor's showing was a big disappointment to the two thousand odd habitués of the Willows track, and after the race many unfavorable comments on Jockey Matthews' exhibition in the boot were heard from all sides of the stand, ring and paddock. However, when it is known that the good three year old broke down in the race, Matthews will be given credit for at least trying to pilot the colt under the racing diameter in front.

Altamor may have been the best horse in the race but H. A. Cotton and his numerous friends are strongly of the opinion that the aged bay unsexed son of Rubicon, Captain Burnett, would have taken Altamor's "tax" even had the latter not suffered from those ills that horseflesh is heir to. At any event, had Altamor stood up, and beaten the captain, he would have held the coveted honor of holding the track record, for in yesterday's event the military named equine shouldered 113 pounds and won by a length and a half in 1:42 3-5, which clipped 2-5 of a second off the record established by Ed. Ball last week. By a strange coincidence, Burnett's weight yesterday in his record breaking performance was the same as that packed by Ed. Ball.

Another unfortunate accident of yesterday's racing, which brought sorrow to many favorite players, occurred in the closing event, at seven furlongs, when Mattie Mack, heavily backed at 3 to 1, after laying in a contenting position for half the journey, was crowded into the fence by Illusion, Jockey Anderson, Harry MacKis, promising apprentice boy, who had the mount on Mattie Mack, faring badly in the mix up. Despite the pain of a crushed foot, Anderson displayed unusual fortitude and rode out a game under the fence, putting the mare under the wire for the place by a few inches. The boy had to be carried back to the jockey room after he got down, and late last night it was reported that his injuries might keep him out of the box for several days. Mattie Mack, with flying with this mishap, made the race a easy thing for Emma G. heavy odds being second chard and backed from 1 to 3 by many wise paddockites.

Emma Is Played

The backers of Emma G. however, do not consider that in any case could Mattie Mack have beaten the daughter of Cactus, but this question will probably be fought out again before the end of the meeting. A report was going the rounds last night that Mattie Mack, like Altamor, had been laid on the shelf for the time being by her race yesterday. Certainly the mare was badly cut and knocked about by her bad racing luck, but horse lovers hope that the injuries are not serious enough to keep the mare in the stable for any great length of time, for surely they don't breed more consistent runners than this handsome daughter of Rensselaer.

Of the nondescript bunch of maiden two year olds that paraded to Starter Weber in the opening event, Frank Receptor's brown colt Metropolitan proved much the best. Breaking on his toes the son of Filigrane tiptoed all opposition, and won by a dozen lengths galloping. He was the logical winner on paper, and Bookville told that to the better most emphatically by the opening quotations. Six to five was the first price posted on him, but such a wad of currency showed in the ring on Gill Summers' colt Ketchel, that the latter's price was forced from 3 to 5, and a "straw" was prevailed at post time. Unlike his odds, the namesake he failed to even have a left shift or a right hook, for he was easily vanquished for place honors by the very ordinary Miss Picnic. In justice to Owner Summers' racing acumen, and the confidence shown by his friends, it can be said of the bay Kitchel, feeling that he was badly crowded at the start, and was given a very lethargic ride by J. King. Otherwise he might have landed in second place, but it is very doubtful whether he would have been able to cope with Metropolitan's record equaling performance.

Shale Makes Hit

The unfashionable rider, Shale, was the incentive for Bookville taking undue liberties with Titus in the second event, and a "straw" was prevailed at post time. Unlike his odds, the namesake he failed to even have a left shift or a right hook, for he was easily vanquished for place honors by the very ordinary Miss Picnic. "TOO MUCH JOHNSON" IS WELL RECEIVED

Gardiner Company Stages Humorous Production at the Victoria

"Too Much Johnson," played for the first time last night by the Edmund Gardiner Company, is a great play; in fact, one of the funniest farces that has been seen here. In many respects it is even more amusing than was "A Night Off." Complication follows complication, and one absurd misunderstanding follows another, till the audience is in roars. These mistakes are carefully fostered by Augustus Billings, played by H. K. Houston, till the situation becomes wholly impossible, though none the less funny for that. If the applause of the audience last night is any guide, there should be great houses for the rest of the week.

Bennett Southard gives another great performance as Johnson, the truculent Cuban cotton planter. His costume and make-up are perfect, and he has the knack of changing and disguising his voice, with the result that he was quite unrecognisable, a feat hard of attainment in a stock company. His acting was on a par with his stage

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

North Dairy Farm School. Sealed tenders, superscribed "Tender for Schoolhouse," will be received by the Hon. the Minister of Public Works up to noon of Wednesday, the 23rd day of June, 1909, for the erection and completion of a two-room frame schoolhouse, situated near the pumping station on the Quadra street extension, in the Saunich Municipality. Plans, specifications, contract and forms of tender may be seen on and after the 7th day of June, 1909, at the offices of W. Campbell, Esq., secretary of the School Board, Royal Oak; and at the Public Works Department, Victoria, B. C.

Each proposal must be accompanied by an accepted bank cheque or certificate of deposit on a chartered bank of Canada, made payable to the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, for a sum equivalent to ten per cent. of the amount of the tenders, which shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into contract when called upon to do so, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for. The cheques or certificates of deposit of unsuccessful tenderers will be returned to them upon the execution of the contract.

Tenders will not be considered unless made out on the forms supplied, signed with the actual signature of the tenderer, and enclosed in the envelopes furnished.

appearance. Altogether Mr. Southard's performance must rank high, and compares favorably with many so-called stars who arrive here widely heralded, and play to top prices.

Mr. Houston made his debut here last night and created a most favorable impression. He is good-looking, with a clear voice and a fine stage presence. The part of Billings is both long and responsible, and he played it admirably. Mr. Gardiner is to be congratulated on having secured his services.

Orrin Knox was very funny as Mackintosh, the fervent, but somewhat helpless lover. Charles Marriott gave another of his sterling performances as Faddish. Miss Brook played Mrs. Billings, and looked exceedingly pretty. She made a most delightful young matron, and her part was a pleasant change in some respects from the character parts which she has so ably filled hitherto. The other members of the company were also good, though Mr. Holmes deserves a special word for his Frederick Johnson's much-abused facetiousness. Miss Gilbert was clever, as usual, as Miss Faddish.

Altogether the play is one of the best yet, and one that should not be missed, and the performance is all the more creditable when it is remembered that the company has only just returned from Nanaimo, where they played "A Night Off" the evening before to a packed house. They were naturally tired after the trip, but it was not noticeable. There was one little hitch in the performance—an unfortunate stage wait at the end of the play which rather spoiled the last curtain. But accidents will occur, and it was the only blemish on an otherwise creditable and enjoyable performance.

New Grand Theatre

The Grand theatre offers among its attractions this week Mr. Frank Bacon and company in a humorous sketch entitled "An Easy Lie." Mr. Bacon is a comedian of the Jefferson type and his quaint, unctuous methods have ample scope in delineating the old man, who cannot tell the truth and whose vivid imaginings allow much opportunity for a most remarkable budget of fanciful happenings. All the old man's stories date from one time, and Bacon's droll humor is keenly appreciated. He is supported by his daughter, Bessie Stuart Bacon, and by Jane Jeffery, both actresses of ability and experience.

Gillman and Murray as the black face men in real ragtime bring catchy songs, a dance or two, and a feminine turn that is all a laugh. The comedy and music of the Ramsey sisters vie for supremacy. Both the participants in the act handle their work most capably the bell ringing is the subject for two encores. A new one here that is a good one

The Servant in the House

On Thursday, June 24th, at the Victoria theatre, Mr. Henry Miller will present his all star cast of associate players in the remarkable play "The Servant in the House." Henry Miller forced himself into the first rank of American producing managers two years ago when he produced "The Great Divide." But that play, big, strong, virile, and artistic as it is, seems mediocre when compared to his latest production "The Servant in the House." A more powerful play has not been seen by the present generation. It is written by Charles Rann Kennedy, whose command of pure English would gain him an enviable reputation were he lacking in all the other qualifications of a dramatic author. It is a play with a purpose; one that will teach a lesson stronger than those heard from the pulpits of modern churches; a more damaging attack on the hypocrisies of conventional religion and conventional society than can be found in a dozen plays by Henry Arthur Jones; a play in which quietly spoken lines stir the emotions more deeply than vivid pictures of action, and which start a train of thought not easily abandoned by even those who prefer not to think. And the play is presented by one of the strongest companies gathered together by any manager during the past ten years.

Pantages Theatre

Yes, there is a lot of class to the Pantages show this week and so varied is the programme that if you don't go away happy the fault is all your own. Ragtime Barnes and Mabel Robinson, just off the Orpheum circuit; "How Fixer Fixed It," a howling farce comedy by Charles A. Taylor; Octavia and Warrne, eccentric singers and comedy entertainers from Australia; Fred Norris, champion fancy roller skater; Adelaide Rogers sings "For I Dream of You," and funny moving pictures. Good? Why certainly!

PLANS OF OSAKA SHOSHEN KAISHA

Japanese Company to Operate British Steamer on Trans-Pacific Line

FITZPATRICK IS UNDER LINE CHARTER

Schedule of Vessels to Inaugurate Sailings to This Port

The British steamer Fitzpatrick, under the charter to the Osaka Shoshen Kaisha, will alternate with the steamers Tacoma Maru and Seattle Maru in maintaining the company's new Hongkong-Tacoma service, pending completion of the steamer Chicago Maru. The Fitzpatrick, Capt. Hutchinson, left Calcutta May 14 for Kurrachee and is scheduled to clear from Yokohama for Victoria and Puget Sound on August 14. Her steaming dates are still provisional, but will probably be definitely decided within the next fortnight.

Previous advices from the Orient stated that the British steamer Strathgairn had been secured by the Osaka Shoshen Kaisha for temporary trans-Pacific service. Both the Strathgairn and the Fitzpatrick are owned by Burrell & Co., Glasgow, and the time charter executed by the latter company through its agents, Ludwell & Co., Ltd., provides that any steamer of the "Strath" or "Fitz" class may be supplied. The Fitzpatrick has been definitely decided upon, however, the advices state, and will be taken over by the Osaka Shoshen Kaisha as soon as she completes her present Oriental cruise.

NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that pursuant to the provisions of The Revised Statutes of Canada, 1906, Chapter 115, Sec. 7, and Chapter 143, Sec. 34, the undersigned will, at the expiration of thirty days from the date hereof apply to the Governor in Council for the approval of the area plans and site of certain proposed works to be constructed at Thetis Cove Esquimalt Harbor, Vancouver Island, British Columbia, upon the following described foreshore and submerged lands: Commencing at high water mark at the northwesterly corner of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway station grounds, known as the Esquimalt Station; thence south fifty-four degrees west (S. 54° W.) a distance of four hundred and seventy-three feet (473') more or less, along boundary of foreshore applied for by the B. F. Graham Lumber Company (the plans of which are filed) to the shore of Richards Island, thence south nineteen degrees and thirteen minutes west (S. 19° 13' W.) a distance of one hundred and fifty feet (150') along boundary of foreshore applied for by the B. F. Graham Lumber Company, thence south eighty degrees east (S. 80° E.) a distance of four hundred and eighty feet (480') more or less to high water mark, and thence following high water mark to point of commencement, the whole containing 3.85 (three and eighty-five one hundredths) acres and shown colored red on plan made by T. S. Gore, P. L. S., under date May 7th, 1909.

The said works consist of the construction of a booming ground for logs within the area above described, and the erection of a sawmill upon the foreshore and extending into the water, and a plan of the said proposed works and a description of the proposed site has been deposited with the Minister of Public Works at Ottawa and duplicates thereof in the Land Registry Office at Victoria, B. C.

Dated May 21, 1909, Victoria, B. C.

Is Fast Freighter.

It is announced that the Fitzpatrick will virtually become the property of the Osaka company for the twelve months during which her charter continues in force, being handled similarly as the other vessels of the Tacoma Maru type built expressly for the new American service in conjunction with the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railways. The only difference will be that the Fitzpatrick will not draw the new subsidy provided in the subsidy act which passed the Japanese diet last winter, owing to the fact that she is a foreign-built and foreign-owned vessel. She will, however, carry the Imperial Japanese mails. The Fitzpatrick has a net capacity of 2,838 tons and is among the fastest of British freighters. She was in drydock at Calcutta the last week in April undergoing repairs for the Indian ocean. Although no advices have been received, it is probable the Fitzpatrick will be commanded and manned by Japanese seamen similarly as the other vessels of the new fleet. The steamer Seattle Maru is nearing completion and will be ready for service in a few days. The Chicago Maru is not yet out of the yards of the Kawasaki Dockyard company at Kobe. Announcement is made that the three remaining vessels of the fleet of six will be christened in the order of their launching: Panama Maru, Mexico Maru and Canada Maru.

Tacoma Maru's Schedule.

As previously announced, the steamship Tacoma Maru will leave Hongkong on July 3, making the itinerary of Japanese ports and clearing from Yokohama July 17. She will enter at Victoria the beginning of August, make the itinerary of sound ports and depart August 14, arriving in Yokohama again September 16. On her second voyage she will leave Hongkong September 25 and Yokohama October 9, and arrive at Victoria October 23. Returning she will clear from Victoria November 7, arriving at Hongkong December 7. Her third voyage for 1909 will be out of Hongkong December 18, clearing from Yokohama January 1, 1910, and arriving at Victoria January 15. Returning she will clear from Victoria January 28, arriving at Hongkong March 3.

The Fitzpatrick will be the second of the Osaka fleet to enter at Victoria. As previously stated, her schedule is still provisional. As now contemplated she will leave Hongkong July 31 and Yokohama August 14, tying up about August 29. She will leave out again September 11. On her second trip the Fitzpatrick will arrive here November 21 and leave December 4. The steamer Seattle Maru is scheduled to leave Hongkong on her maiden voyage August 28, entering here about September 27. Returning she will leave October 9, arriving at Hongkong November 11. Her second voyage during 1909 will take her out of Hongkong November 20. She will arrive in Victoria again December 20 and leave out December 31.

THREE CHINESE ESCAPE FROM S. S. GEORGIA

Wily Celestials Take Advantage of Change Being Made on Crew

The Dominion government is the richer by $1500 through the escape of three of the Chinese crew from aboard the steamer Georgia, which is being repaired at the dry dock at Esquimalt. The Chinese crew is being replaced by whites, and eighteen of the Celestials are being sent home by the C.P.R. steamer Montevideo, while another contingent will embark on the Empress of India when she calls. When the change was being made three of the Chinese broke away, and as a consequence the steamship loses $1,500.

TWO HOLT LINERS EXPECTED IN PORT

Antiochus to Discharge 1,000 Tons of Cargo—Ningchow Outward Bound

The Blue Funnel liner Ningchow is expected here early this morning, from Seattle, outward bound with a large cargo of general merchandise for the Far East and Liverpool. She will berth at the Outer Wharf and load a shipment of whale oil for Glasgow.

The Holt liner Antiochus is also expected in port this morning from Seattle, and during the next few days she will be engaged in discharging 1,000 tons of merchandise, consigned to local merchants from Great Britain. On Friday night or Saturday morning the Antiochus will leave here for Vancouver, for which port she has 5,000 tons. Nearly two-thirds of the total cargo brought to the Pacific coast by the Blue Funnel liner is consigned to British Columbia ports. This is indicative of the steady progress in trade being made by this province.

Champion Combination Ranges Lead

The Champion Interchangeable Range is new and is the greatest patented invention of modern times. What is it? It is a high-grade steel gas range, which in three seconds can be changed from gas to a coal or wood range. It occupies exactly the same space as a coal range—it looks like one—it feels like one—it works like one—it IS one, yet it is also a gas range. The Champion Range is a marvel of durability, and will last a lifetime. It has the extra heavy construction of the regular coal and wood ranges, and being three times as heavy as any of the high-grade gas ranges on the market today, it will naturally outlast any three of them.
